

Data Privacy Policy

Overview

Below you will find the Bardel Computer Systems Ltd (“Bardel”) Privacy Policy regarding any personal information that you may supply to us through our site. Bardel is committed to protecting your privacy and the personal information that you submit through the Internet.

By accessing this site, you acknowledge and fully understand this Privacy Policy and the Terms and Conditions posted on this website.

Please note that this website is not directed to minors and we do not knowingly collect personal information from children under the age of 16 on this website. If we become aware that we have inadvertently received personal information from a visitor under the age of 16 on the website, we will delete the information from our records.

Personal Information We Collect

You may choose to provide personal information (such as your name, address, telephone number and email address) on our websites.

Unless you ask us not to do so, we may use your information to contact you via email or telephone in the future to tell you about special offers, new products, technical issues or changes to this Privacy Policy.

We also may transfer the personal information we collect on this website to other countries where we operate our business, but we will do so only for the purposes described above. When we transfer the information to the other countries, we will protect the information as described here unless otherwise required by applicable law.

We do not sell, rent or otherwise disclose personal information about our website visitors to any third party outside of our organization, except as described further in this policy. We may share information provided by our visitors to this website with service providers we have retained to perform services on our behalf. In addition, we may disclose information about you (i) if we are required to do so by law or by legal process; (ii) to law enforcement authorities or other government officials; or (iii) when we believe disclosure is necessary or appropriate to prevent physical harm or financial loss in connection with an investigation of suspected or actual illegal activity. In addition, we reserve the right to transfer any information we have about you in the event we sell or transfer all or a portion of our business assets. Should such a sale or transfer occur, we will use reasonable efforts to direct the transferee to use personal information you have provided through this site in a manner that is consistent with this Privacy Policy.

Any information provided to Bardel is treated with care and discretion. Bardel takes a proactive approach to make sure that the information is kept private and is not misused.

Third Party Sites

If you submit personal information on any third party web sites that incorporate Bardel’s services (“Third Party Site”), the use and protection of such information is governed by a Privacy Policy posted on that particular web page. Information that you enter into this site is subject to the Third Party Site's privacy policy and Bardel is not responsible for the Third Party Site's use of your information. You should review the privacy policy of the Third Party Site to ensure that you are comfortable with how it intends to use and disclose your information. Bardel has drafted this Privacy Policy to ensure that you can clearly understand Bardel's data and security practices and policies as you use this site. However, the Third Party Site is responsible for the collection and use of your Personal Information, so if you have any questions or concerns about the way in which your Personal Information is collected and used, please contact the Third Party Site directly.
